

2/10/05 1:38am

I've noted the time of the morning I am writing because I want you to know that at all hours of the day, and at any hour of the day one can realize the tremendous, awesome, amazing, incredible, overwhelming, joyous reality of being a mother. I am responsible for your existence, your daily growth and experiences, your well-being.
I must turn my eyes to heaven and say thank you and ask for strength and guidance.
You are both my everything,
I am nothing without you.

I love you so so much Mommies.