

Brandon -

We keep fighting this fight. I don't know what you're afraid of, I don't know what motivates you, but you keep lying to me.

One lies only breaks more lies. One day you'll find yourself in a place where you will look around and not recognize your surroundings.

But you won't want to compare so you'll pretend you know where you are - but you won't.

It breaks me up to see you hurt yourself this way. It breaks me up to see you not think about how much pain

I feel over your actions. I am at a loss. I don't know what to do. Today it's woman's and girl-friends, tomorrow it's your relationship and your family. Honesty is something so sacred. It is the only thing we can build on.

It is the solid foundation of any long lasting structure. How can you have anything else, if you do not begin with what you know is real.

I do not recall if I ever told you the whole story of theater, and our break-up. Suffice it to say that is was because of his dishonesty. I believe that relationship would have lasted were it not for that. Any problem can be weathered if there is honesty, Brandon. Yes, emotions will fly, but what else do you expect? Emotions won't always fly, but you can not expect that things happen without consequence. Don't ever do something you can not take responsibility for. If you do, then 'sue' up to what you have done, don't learn to do something that will cost you your life.

I don't know what to do. I don't know what to say. I feel like I don't know you. I hate that feeling.

M.