Boy - When it rains it pours, and then, if you keep your eyes open, a little silver lining - Well, I've been processing all of the "paperwork" for leaving the District only to continue encountering one pebble in the road after another. To make matters slightly more taxing, the car over heated, and I don't know just how bad it is. I hope I did not kill anything major. I had to leave it at the gas station down the road, I hope it's okay. If it isn't one thing, it's something else. Money is pretty tight right now. Pinching pennies. I hope things let up soon. God give me strength. Still no word from the IRS on replacing the stolen check, I need to call them too. And, your father's fiasco is fresh on my mind - Argh! But, (silver lining) my teacher, who is some District employee is really nice and is willing to look at my letter to the District regarding my resignation. And, my student Juan called. I haven't heard from him in a while. I'll call him tomorrow. So, I'll just have to sleep on my troubles so I have the strength to fight them away tomorrow. My babies, I just want a better life for both of you. I hope that by the time you read these pages I have done that.

I Love You Two Soooooo Much!
You are my Universe!
I am nothing without you!
I Love You -
