The journey of life continues, and we continue along its path. College applications difficult to fill and reading pieces difficult to follow. But, I know that in the end we will always advance. Life has been good to us as experience has provided that example. My efforts at Burbank are being seen now. And I'm not there. I know some of it is people's fond memory of what things use to be like, but I know some of it is also what things were truly like. I worked hard at Burbank and I will continue to work hard. Much for you - much for me, much for what I do. All things pass and all things are good - even the bad. You just need to keep the faith - in what you're doing; why and who for - Love Mom.
